

NATURAL LINING LEATHER

In the matter of footwear, Ecopell's lining leather is known for its utterly natural and healthy inner life which leaves nothing to be desired. The tanning process with vegetable agents results not only in an exceptional breathability, but also in skin compatibility to the effect that you can wear shoes [even] barefoot without pains.

The different colorings of the leather stem from natural tanning agents. By extracts of Tara husks and Valonea fruits, the leather hides gain their bright inherent colors. Leather which has undergone this production process without color additives will not fade in color. Dependent upon standard variations from different batches, lining leather may show slight differences in tone.
